decided that it's time to buy a house. Congratulations! Now, what comes next is what gets us excited... but to be honest, it can be a little overwhelming. There are so many decisions to make, along with the very real question of 'how much do I need to start with?' At this point, you'll want to start to think about what it would look like to create your very own legacy of ownership. How will your home (and other assets) fit into your family's legacy and what do you wish to leave behind? We've talked before about your legacy in terms of leaving your family a legacy of wealth and a legacy of your personal history. This is very different from passing on a property to your family, where your familial history is also being passed down. Your legacy of wealth is about choosing to invest in real estate and future generations. You also need to consider the legacy of personal history and being remembered within your community. But in this discussion, we'll focus on the legacy of ownership. Your
