The acronym can be up to 7 characters long, the explanation can be any text up to 69 characters. It shows one or more sorted abbreviation lists, allows you to insert, change or delete entries and search for duplicates. You can also merge two or more abbreviation lists into a single one. The program interface is quite intuitive. The program saves its last used settings in a file named CABBREVV.SET, so it can automatically open the same abbreviation file windows the next time you start it. The setting file is normally stored in the same directory as the executable program, but you can specify a separate directory for the setting file in a DOS environment variable with the name SETTING. NOTE: This program and its sources may be used and copied freely without charge, but only for non-commercial purposes. Introduction. Using a web service requires the user to submit an application and be redirected to a website. The website will connect to the services API and communicate with the provided credentials. However, this is not a new concept, so not much has changed since the first web service was created in 1997. This paper investigates the use of the web services API to create application web services using data communication protocol JavaScript Object Notation.[Alcoholic hand eczema. The role of drugs]. Alcohol is considered to be the most common cause of hand eczema. Although several different types of alcoholic hand eczema exist, the most frequent type is the so
