I am developing an app for iPad, and I'd like to add a few custom tabs to the tab bar control. When my app is running in landscape, I'd like to have the background color of the tab bar be dark, and when running in portrait mode, the tab bar should have a light color background. Is this possible? Thanks in advance. A: This can be done by checking if your view controller is being presented in portrait orientation. If the orientation changes, then you can call this method to update the background color of the UITabBar -(void) updateBackgroundColor:(BOOL) b { UITabBar *tabBar = self.tabBar; if(b) { CGFloat color = [UIColor colorWithRed: 0.7 green: 0.6 blue: 0.1 alpha: 0.9]; [tabBar setBackgroundImage:[UIImage imageNamed: @"Tab Bar - Dark"].CGImage forState: UIControlState 2d92ce491b
