Features “HyperMotion Technology” collects complex motion data from actual players in real-life matches. The data captured from their movements, tackles, aerial duels and on-ball actions is used to power the gameplay in FIFA 22. FIFA 22 will feature “FIFA Ref Night” where players will be able to celebrate, spot the winner, red card and penalty kicks during FIFA official matches. The “Dynamic Player” was developed by a new technology team under “Experimental” mode. The Dynamic Player approach creates game-realistic data of varying intensities, allowing players to approach their performances in a more realistic fashion and allowing them to train and recover in a realistic way. The Dynamic Player also brings more player spacing and runs and tackles to the FIFA franchise. The “Dynamic Player” can be seen in more detail in this video: The “Dynamic Player” will come with all modes in FIFA, including the “New Career Mode,” where players will actually attend real-world training camps and play in stadiums and authentic games. There will be more action surrounding the player on the pitch, such as recaps, opponent highlights, player anecdotes and more. The new “FIFA Ultimate Team” will also come with the “Dynamic Player.” Licensing In addition to the “Dynamic Player,” FIFA 22 will introduce team licensing. Players will have licensing for 14,947 real-life players across all global leagues, and it’s the first time FIFA has released licensed players since FIFA 15. Also, each player will include more individual variations and unique abilities. In-game marketing Players can earn virtual currency in FIFA to spend in-game. The “Virtual Currency” will let players change their in-game accessories by paying real money for them. By doing so, players will earn FIFA points to spend on their in-game items. Other enhancements There’s also various other enhancements to FIFA 22. For example, the game will feature an update to the “FIFA World Matchday” mode. This mode will allow players to select a match and play through the week’s action. Players will be able to change the atmosphere, the teams, the date and the round. The mode will also feature a new “competitive” and “friendly” match

FIFA is the number one simulation football game – it was the best-selling sports title of 2015 and the top-selling sports franchise of all time. More than 5 million people play FIFA every day, more than 150 million people play the game each year, and there are 1.3 billion people around the world who have FIFA on their device. FIFA is a franchise that has changed football for the better and continues to evolve. We're now entering the next generation of FIFA, and the most iconic football game ever made is better than ever. More than 1,500 improvements From the way players feel and move to the pace of the game and the team moves, the new FIFA is coming with more than 1,500 improvements. From defensive ball retention to keeper tracking to the pace of the game, you'll notice the difference. The new FIFA has the best ball physics you've ever seen in an EA SPORTS game, including improvements to ball spin, the weight of the ball and the aerodynamics. All of this is powered by the new Pure Player Motion engine, which improves the way players feel, run, pass, tackle and shoot. Improved controls The new FIFA's controls have been redesigned from the ground up to feel as authentic as possible, and they will feel the same in real life and in-game. On the field, players use their speed and acceleration to run, sprint and shoot, and on the pitch, they dribble and fake, the way they'd in a real match. In-game your team will understand your intentions even more, and you will be able to execute more advanced tactics. With the new controls, and the attention to detail and innovation that is at the heart of this franchise, the new FIFA will be the best soccer game on the market. Pace, pressure, and defence The new FIFA is faster than ever, with a new first-person mode and a new control scheme that makes passing, shooting and attacking feel even more instinctive. That's right – it will no longer be possible to play the new FIFA the way you've always played it – you have to move with the ball. While defending becomes more difficult, winning games doesn't become too easy. The new features, as well as all the changes made to gameplay, are designed to make it more fun to play the game, with more pressure and more scoring opportunities in every match. Unleash attack after attack by playing a quick possession with a single tap, then blast your opponents in the back with powerful set-pieces.

Changes and Improvements to goalkeepers

strikers, goalkeepers provide the biggest difference between the two keeper styles.

- The number of chance created has been reduced from 20 to 10. Players no longer have the chance to create golden opportunities where the opposition has the best chance of scoring. Instead, the system will now award goals when the ball is in the opponents' half of the pitch, with either an accurate shot into the middle of the box or a misplaced pass.
- Keeper (The EA SPORTS™ Guide to goalkeeping) is still recommended for teams that use both keepers

FIFA is the world's most popular sports video game, with more than 100 million copies sold to date. Control the Ball, Not the Player Goalkeepers have always been a divisive part of the pitch, but with FIFA 22, you're no longer at the mercy of defenders or a set of feet that defy the laws of physics. One of the many innovations in FIFA 22 is the ability to control your players with unprecedented precision, bringing a new level of anticipation and drama to the heart of any game. For the first time in FIFA history, the ball will roll if it's bouncing on the ground. This means that you'll have to adjust your footwork depending on the ball's movement. For example, when a shot is just rolling into the box, stay low, adjust your footwork, and then wait for the defender to track the ball and juke you. If you're taking a shot, keep your left foot low to control where the ball is going. If you're moving left, you'll want to drop your right foot. Similarly, if you're moving right, you'll need to drop your right foot. This allows you to always control where your player's feet are going - even when there's less than a second left on the clock. Underdog system infuses soccer into FIFA's authentic match day experience, giving players the freedom to play their style, and complete simple objectives throughout the game. Whether they are smashing through the defence and scoring the goal, or playing cool back-heels to the keeper and create space for your teammates, players will experience Underdog Soccer like never before. Branching Narrative Drives Competition A new, branching narrative structure means that every game is a unique experience, with meaningful decisions that impact the game in meaningful ways. Just as the Beşiktaş J.K. story was shaped by key moments in the team's history, those decisions will shape the story of the player's journey and affect their on-pitch results. This is reflected in how the game will change with each match. New features like goal sequences, free kicks, and defending will evolve
